to me

Ben, I left my phone on the train 3 days ago and still trying to get it back. However, as I said in my last email on May 11th, as soon as the sale is final you will receive your money. The buyer happens to be a dentist and requires many approvals to operate from that bundling he will not close until all the town approvals are in place. He is also getting a commercial loan which takes a considerable amount of time. I am anxious to get this done and over with especially to get you your money. I expect to get a closing date any day now.

Regards,
Mac

Emanuel made another promise that he never intended to fulfill.

Mac,

When is the closing? Please let me know...

Do you still have the wiring info to wire the loan payback?

Ben

Emanuel just disappeared and ignored all my emails/calls/texts after this day.
